

LSA Results 2022: Overview

Level 3 Film & TV

Our Film & TV course is the main qualification undertaken by LSA students in Year 1 and Year 2. It is an Extended Diploma in Creative Practice, overseen by University of Arts London (UAL). The qualification is equivalent to three A-Levels in value, and has a three-grade marking system- Pass, Merit or Distinction.

Extended Project Qualification (EPQ)

EPQ is the most popular additional qualification (AdQual) studied alongside students' main Film & TV course. In EPQ, students complete a personal project that further develops their research and project management skills. They produce an artefact (e.g. short film, design, podcast, script, game design and more) and accompanying project documents to show what they have learned.

A-Levels

Students can also study A-Levels in English Language & Literature or Mathematics as their AdQual course, adding a more traditional academic dimension to their LSA study programme. Both the A-Level courses allow for development of critical thinking skills and in-depth, subject-based studies. There is significant cross-curricular benefit for students wishing to develop their FTV knowledge through numeracy and literacy-based topics.
